Beyond Innovative Devices-Creating Value

Keeping data collection simple and low cost is key to the innovation of each device. However, the ease of integrating the data into various clinical applications is where real value is produced.

Data from symptom tracking journals and medical devices which collect vital signs and medication compliance can be integrated into comprehensive personal health records and clinical portals to create actionable solutions.

iMPak Health's mission is to develop low cost, easy to use devices that engage consumers in their health care. Engaged patients and low cost devices translate into better solutions to managing outcomes.
